

Automatic Dispensing

Care Home Dispensing

Helix Health is an official distributor of automatic dispensing machines (ADMs) and tablet packers. Tosho Inc. is the Japanese leader in pharmacy robotics and automated dispensing machines.

By automating your pharmacy with Tosho machines, you can:

- Dispense easily to care homes
- Dispense to patients on multiple medications
- Increase patient safety and compliance
- Save valuable pharmacy time
- Increase the accuracy of the dispensing process

TOSHO

Increase the accuracy of the dispensing process

By automating the dispensing process and freeing up more pharmacy time, you can significantly improve the accuracy of your pharmacy's dispensing processes.

Save valuable pharmacy time

Tosho ADMs and tablet packers help pharmacists deliver a superior service to patients through the automation of key pharmacy tasks. With Tosho, all medications are automatically picked and dispensed in pouches, saving you the time and effort involved in manually filling prescriptions. In fact, Tosho tablet packers can dispense over 50 packs per minute.

Increase patient safety and compliance

Tosho automated tablet packers are primarily designed to increase patient safety by automatically picking, dividing and distributing all medications for individual patients into pouches. Each pouch clearly identifies the specific time, date, drug name and Tic-tac details for the patient/carer, helping patients to take the right quantity of medication at the right time and increasing their overall compliance with their medication therapies.

It is estimated that as many as 50% of patients do not fully adhere to their medication, and therefore, do not get the full benefit of their medication therapies. Tosho ADMs attempt to help patients become fully compliant with their medication by making it easier to take medication. What's really great about the Tosho ADM is that it allows busy pharmacies to provide additional, value-added services to patients and their carers, increase clinical governance procedures, whilst adding absolutely no extra demands on work practises due to its automation.